'Canadian - US unity unlikely' theme of convo

by Anna Jackson

"I am a Canadian nationalist known even at home as an anti-American," stated Prof. William Morton, head of the history department at the University of Manitoba, as he introduced his topic, "The Fifty-first State."

Going on, he asserted that Canada today finds herself in swiftly changing relationships. These changes are not always wished for and bring with them crises of change and self-realization, he added.

During last year, which he spent in England, Morton was teased by Britishers referring to Canada as the 51st state. After confiding to the audience that this teasing probably arises from envy, he told the group that his pat answer to the teasing was that it would have to be annexed as more than one state, since the area of Canada, including its territories, is more than that of the United States.

In more perceptive terms, Morton stated that political union is unlikely. The two countries are able to achieve the advantages of defense and trade unity without political unity. The difficulties that would arise from such a union would outweigh the benefits that would be added. In reality, the possibility is not seriously faced by the people of the two countries today.

Another reason a political union is unlikely is that the two countries are fundamentally different, he pointed out. The two countries are the result of different exploring groups and thus have separate connections with Europe.

Both Canada and the United States live in a frightening world of rapid change, Morton concluded. He feels that Canada will have to evaluate the changes that are occurring and then add some unique ones of their own. Canada must recapture and retain the feeling that they are master-minds of their own country and culture.

Stereo set-up installed in Weld Hall

by Gladys Odegaard

During quarter break at MSC, while faculty members were busy moving from Weld Hall to the new science building, Hagen Hall, three students converted Weld Auditorium into a stereo concert hall. This was demonstrated recently at a college showing of a movie, "The Thing." While the movie itself was not stereophonic, the music which was played for approximately half an hour before the showing was, and gave an indication of the marvelous potential of the new installation.

The three students responsible for the installation are Ted Larson of Glyndon, Marlyn Kruschke of Breckenridge, and Warren Brauer of Detroit Lakes.

Larson and Kruschke were working backstage during the production of Durrenmatt's "The Visit" in the fall of 1960, and experimented then with stereo to achieve the sound of a train moving across the stage, doubtless remembered by those who saw the play. The control system was built last summer, and the necessary 900 feet of wire was installed during spring quarter break, together with last minute adjustments and testing.

Other students who were attracted by the noise pitched in to help install the wire, and later the testing included everyone's pet records. The sounds ranged from pop records to music of composers such as Liszt and Handel.

The portable master control system, with two turntables, can handle two records, two tapes or two mikes, all at the same time. It is also equipped with a cueing system to cue and mix music.

In the case of sound effects, various sounds can be produced at once or separately, from one side of the stage or the other, or both, or even from backstage, as desired. The system will be especially useful for amplifying sound effects, for music before dramatic productions, and will also be an enormous help to the music department and in courses which require the use of recordings and films, such as humanities.

An interesting aspect of the sound system is that it is completely student planned and installed, with some assistance from the administration, and is, as Mr. Earl Herring, assistant to the president, said, "a good example of what student initiative and know-how can contribute."

The stereo outfit, which a school official estimated is worth about $10,000, and which is a marked improvement over the system formerly used in Weld, was designed and assembled by the three students from basic materials costing $400. It was not even necessary for the college to hire a technician.

Elsa Lanchester to appear Sunday

Elsa Lanchester, the wife of Charles Laughton, and an internationally-known performer in her own right, will appear at Weld Hall auditorium Sunday, April 15, at 8:15 p.m.

She will present an evening of songs and readings to upper-midwest audience for the first time.

See page 4 for complete program

Known chiefly to film-goers as the creator of zany and frequently off-beat characters in shapeless clothing, Miss Lanchester has appeared in more than 50 movies. Her latest film is "Bell, Book, and Candle," which also featured Kim Novak and Jack Lemmon.

Besides movies, Miss Lanchester has also produced several record albums of songs, and has written a book entitled "Charles Laughton And I."

Included in the red-headed actress repertory are the works of Sir Alan Herbert, James Thurber, Thomas Wolfe, Geoffrey Chaucer, T.S. Eliot, Gilbert and Sullivan, Oliver Wendall Holmes, and others.

Columbia gives MSC records; classical, show tunes included

Columbia Records has made a gift of 60 records to Livingston Lord Library upon certification by the library that it was a tax free institution of higher education. Columbia has been making similar gifts to libraries around the country.

A large number of the recordings are classical including such selections as: "Symphony in D Minor" and "Symphonic Variations" by Franck, "Symphonie Fantastique" and "Les Nuits D'ete" by Berlioz, "Capriccio Espagnol" and "Le Coq d'or" by Rimsky-Korsakov, and "Till Eulenspiegel's Merry Pranks", "Don Juan, Op. 20", and "Der Rosenkavalier" by Richard Strauss.

Seven recordings of the works of Brahms, including "Symphony No. 2 in D Major, Op. 73", "Symphony No. 4", and "Double Concerto in A Minor for Violin and Cello Op. 102" as well as five recordings of Beethoven, which include his "Pastorale Symphony", "Piano Concerto No. 3 in C Minor" and "Quartets Nos. 5 and 6" comprise the major portion of the classical selection.

The Beethoven Quartets, an addition to Ravel's "Quartet in F Major" are performed by the Budapest String Quartet.

David Oistrakh, violinist for the Philadelphia Orchestra, plays selections from Mendelssohn, Mozart, Vivaldi, and Bach. Eugene Ormandy, the conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra, presents a varied selection of the compositions of Victor Herbert.

"Die Meistersinger" and "The Flying Dutchman" by Wagner are conducted by Bruno Walter.

Included in the gift were the original cast recordings of "Bye Bye Birdie" and "A Thruway Carnival," two recent Broadway hits.

Other recordings of interest are the vocal recording "September Song" by Lotte Lenya, and the "Lily Pons Gala." Two recordings of Russian folk dances were received, as well as a recording of the "Don Cossacks." Another choral recording was that of the Mormon Tabernacle Choir. "The Big News of '59," a documentary, and an Italian record by Corelli entitled "Concerti Grossi" deserve special attention.

The recording "Festival Casals De Puerto Rico 1957" should be of special interest since the artist, Pablo Casals, recently performed at the White House for President Kennedy.

Darryl G. Smith, Moorhead State College graduate, is one of 61 U.S. Peace Corps volunteers being trained at Arizona State University for a mission to Colombia, S. A.

Peace Corps studies for the two-year Colombian mission include Spanish, industrial arts, agriculture, first aid, physical conditioning and history and politics of the U.S. and Colombia.

The volunteers lived for a week on the reservation to become acquainted with a different culture from those of the twenty-seven states they represent. Ionesco drama is 'tragic farce'

(Articles on the other two one-act plays to be presented May 4 and 5 will appear in the May 5 Mystic.)

by Nancy Berg

"The Chairs," an avant-garde one-act play by Eugene Ionesco, will be one of the three one-acts which will be presented by MSC theatre May 4 and 5.

An understanding of Ionesco's attitude toward the theatre and his point of view concerning reality would be invaluable to grasping the total significance of his plays; however, any subjective interpretation would necessarily be less perceptive than Ionesco's statements about his drama. Thus, Ionesco says: "I have tried (in my plays) to exteriorize the anxiety . . . of my characters through objects; to make the stage settings speak; to translate the action into visual terms; to project visible images of fear, regret, remorse, alienation; to play with words . . . I have thus tried to extend the language of the theatre."

"Two fundamental states of consciousness are at the root of all my plays . . . these two basic feelings are those of evanescence on the one hand, and heaviness on the other; of emptiness and of an overabundance of presence; of the unreal transparency of the world, and of its opaqueness."

The absurdity of the material presence of an innumerable conglomeration of chairs in the play takes on meaning from Ionesco's conception of material objects as a manifestation of a unique state of consciousness . . . "A curtain," says the playwright, "an insuperable wall, comes between me and myself, matter fills everything, takes up all space, annihilates all liberty under its weight . . . speech crumbles."

"The Chairs," says Ionesco, is a "tragic farce." Though some may think that this is a paradox, the playwright explains, "As far as I'm concerned I have never been able to understand the difference that is made between the comic and the tragic. As the comic is the intuition of the absurd, it seems to me more conducive to despair than the tragic."

Eugene Ionesco is Rumanian born; he is the author of "The Bald Soprano," "The Lesson," "Jacques," "The Future is in Eggs," "Victims of Duty," "The New Tenant," "Amedee, or 'How to Get Rid of It,'" "The Picture," "The Shepherd's Calendar," "The Killer," and "The Rhinoceros."

Ionesco is not so difficult to understand as he may appear to an unenlightened audience. He is not obscure, as many may think him to be on first acquaintance with his plays. "The Chairs" should be approached with a willingness to be caught up in the illusion that Ionesco has created. Ionesco's statement of his purpose and pattern as follows might be the clearest explanation of his approach:

"I do not write plays to tell a story. The theatre cannot be epic . . . because it is dramatic. For me, a play does not consist in the description of the development of such a story. A play is a structure that consists of a series of states of consciousness, or situations, which become intensified, grow more and more dense, then get entangled, either to be disentangled again or to end in unbearable inextricability."

"The Chairs" has a cast of hundreds, but the only characters which are immediately visible are The Old Man, played by Charles (Skip) Grover, a senior from Dent, Minnesota; The Old Woman, as played by Nancy Berg, sophomore from Hallock, Minnesota, and The Orator, with Michael Steinke, junior from Detroit Lakes, Minn.

Hitchcock movie featured April 16 by Film Series

The MSC Fine Film Series will present "Foreign Correspondent" Monday, April 16, at 7:30 p.m. in Livingston Lord Library.

Alfred Hitchcock is the director of this mystery which features Joel McCrea as a foreign news correspondent who tries to foil the attempts of an international gang of warmongers to kidnap the one man who can secure the peace of Europe. Some of the scenes Hitchcock uses are a political assassination on a rainy day, a spy hunt in an abandoned windmill, a torture room in a dowdy hotel, and a transatlantic clipper shot down at sea.

Alfred Hitchcock, one of the most famous directors of mystery movies, combined mystery with the humorous genius of Robert Benchley and Herbert Marshall, to make "Foreign Correspondent" a formidable contender for "Best Movie" of 1940.

The two other films to be shown by the Fine Films Series spring quarter are "Captain From Koenig" on May 13, and "God Needs Men" on May 18.

A Freedoms Foundation Award enjoys the same prestige and significance in the community service field that the "Oscar" does in the motion picture industry and the "Emmy" does in the television world.

Circle K Club is a service club sponsored by the Moorhead Kiwanis club which voluntarily assumes the leadership responsibilities on campus and in the local community.

On March 24, four Circle K members journeyed to Bismarck, North Dakota, to attend the Minnesota-Dakota Circle K International District Convention, at which Gene Carlson was elected Lt. Governor of the Northern District of Minnesota. Dick Enstad of the Fergus Falls Junior College was elected Governor of the District.

There were about 150 delegates from the three states in attendance. Those making the trip from Moorhead State were Gene Carlson, Dale Loff, Alan Tabbut, and Rod Melby.

The agenda for the day included a noon luncheon, discussion groups in the afternoon, a business meeting, an evening installation of officers banquet, and a party at the Patterson Hotel.

Interrogation Point . . .

DO YOU THINK THAT THE UNITED STATES AND RUSSIA SHOULD COMBINE FORCES TO EXPLORE SPACE?

Dr. Frank Noice, associate professor of science

Any unification between the United States and Russia would be helpful, even if it were just a uniform bathtub design. A standard of any type, or a breakthrough for the two countries in anything, would be very good.

Tom Wickie, sophomore, Fargo, North Dakota

It would be very good, if Khrushchev would not go back on his promise as he has so often done before. I don't feel that he is ready to combine forces merely for a peaceful cause. There must be some underlying plot in his proposal.

Dick MacGregor, junior, Moorhead, Minnesota.

It will serve no purpose, because there is no way of knowing what information would be withheld. We don't know how much of what Russia knows would be used to help in a unified project. We should settle other differences first.

Karen Mueller, sophomore, Moorhead, Minnesota

A pooling of ideas is a good idea in a situation like this, if Russia doesn't hold back knowledge. We must remember we have never been able to get together on an important issue before. If Khrushchev were just trying to seek information for an end other than the peaceful exploration of space, it would be bad.

Student government leaders met for convention in Winona

Student government leaders from the five Minnesota state colleges met Thursday through Saturday, April 5-7 at their semi-annual conference on the Winona State college campus. Nearly seventy representatives from Bemidji, Mankato, St. Cloud, Winona, and Moorhead assembled to discuss a wide range of student and college problems.

At the final session Saturday, the full assembly acted on resolutions proposed by the various discussion groups who had compared and evaluated proposed topics.

Comparison of the methods used to establish student centers was one issue of interest. Discussion of standards to be used in the establishment of a Who's Who of the five Minnesota State colleges was also considered.

A third major issue was the study of the health services and health insurance programs of the state colleges. Comparison and evaluation of each college's student government's constitution was a fourth major discussion topic.

Also included throughout the conference was a National Student Association report by an NSA member from Carleton College, Northfield, Minnesota. Campus parking problems at St. Cloud, National Defense loans at Bemidji, and the value of sororities and fraternities at a collegiate level were also discussed with summerizations or recommendations presented as conclusive.

Bob Young, Winona, who presided at the conference in absence of past president, Jim Weiler, Moorhead, was elected the new MSCSC President for the coming year. Sue Roth, also Winona, was elected secretary and these two automatically serve on the executive board together with a representative from each state college.

Delegates from the MSC Commission included Rod Baker, Judy Livdahl, Pat McDonough, Bruce Bausman, Jerry Nyberg, Sharon Boyum, JoAnn Doran, Terry Hull, Wes Schierman, Larry Sewall, Russ Davis, and Ed Schwartz. Sheila Janisch attended as past representative from Moorhead on the executive council.

Wes Schierman was selected as new representative and will attend an executive board planning conference prior to next fall's convention hosted by Bemidji.

Senior Ray Gordon's versatile, experimental art exhibit is being displayed in MacLean

by George Wray

Versatility is the main element of the one man art exhibit on third floor of MacLean Hall.

Ray Gordon, a senior from Fergus Falls, Minn., has an exhibition that covers practically every medium in the art field.

Ray calls his work "experimental," with getting his experience with the different media the main purpose for his wide range of efforts. He admits, however, that right now the woodcut is his favorite.

In painting, Ray thinks his most expressive work is "Snow Flower." By using a sharp color contrast and a simplified abstract technique, he portrays an early spring flower that has pushed up through the melting snow.

In the painting "Chinese Mountain," a different technique was used to emphasize the subject. By using a rough texture and a basic color scheme he created a three dimensional feeling. This helps to catch the ruggedness that one associates with mountains.

In the craft medium, Ray's "Oil Derrick" portrays the ugliness of the machine age by emphasizing the crudity of the oil wells of the early 1900's.

The exhibit is an excellent opportunity to become familiar with different art media and techniques of contemporary art.

Ray Gordon stands by a few of his woodcuts, now on exhibit on the third floor of MacLean Hall.

Three sketches of the Gordon exhibit: self-portrait, Egyptian head, and human figure study.

College Exchange

by David Seutter

Morale on the American college campus is at an all-time low, and no wonder, says the Tennessee Tech ORACLE in an editorial, "It's the power of negative thinking".

"It is much easier to criticize than to praise, more American to see the bad instead of the good, and more collegiate to be dissatisfied with everything in general.

"Considering ourselves collegiate, we criticize everything about which we have any doubt. But should we not also praise those things which meet with our approval? A few sincere words of praise will not hurt our status or our attitude.

"America has been accustomed to the freedom of speech and thought so long that her citizens now interpret freedom of speech to mean freedom to find fault. Talk with one of the students on campus who has lived in a country without personal freedom and see if you do not feel a sense of elation after you have finished the conversation.

"This situation provides an excellent atmosphere for low morale among the students and instructors. Even when a student is pleased with a lecture he feels sure he must have gotten more from the lesson than the instructor intended because lectures are supposed to be dull.

"And the instructor feels that he has failed to get across all he intended because of the cool reception which his lecture got from the students.

"With a situation like this, is it surprising that the morale on the American college campus is at the lowest ebb in history-and falling?"

MSC loses all-around athlete Torson

by Bob McAlpine

With the graduation of Frank Torson, MSC has lost one of the finest all-around track performers in its history. Torson did not confine himself to one event, but was proficient, very proficient, in several.

Frank had shown great promise as a junior, and in last year's Conference Meet, that promise was truly filled.

Two of the major goals of any track athlete are breaking records and placing in the conference championship. Torson did both. In fact, he set school records in two events, and in the Conference Track Meet held last year in Bemidji, placed in four events.

Torson won the Conference Pole Vault Championship with an 11'7" vault. This is 3" shy of Ron Noeson's school record of 11'10". Torson also placed first in the High Jump with a 6' leap. Gene Goedel's MSC record is 6'1".

In the same meet Frank won the Broad Jump Championship with a 22'9" effort. This is about 1" short of his own school record. His hop-step and jump of 43' was his season's best, and was good enough for second place. It was also a school record. Frank, with his three firsts and one second, scored more points than any other individual athlete in the conference.

Frank Torson

Torson, however, was not through yet. He traveled to the NAIA Championship Track Meet at Sioux Falls, where he turned in an amazing performance in what was (till then) his weakest event—the hop-step and jump. His previous best was 43'. Frank's first jump was 44'. His next was even better as he hit the 46' mark. On his third trial Torson triple-jumped 47' 5¼". The old national record was 47'5". Frank had just become the NAIA record holder.

His honor was short-lived, however. Two other athletes eclipsed the old mark, and Frank's new record too. One of these athletes is fairly well known in track circles—his name is Ralph Boston. Boston is the world record holder in the broad jump. Nevertheless, Torson finished a very respectable third, and his 47'5 1/4" foot hop-step and jump places him among the top three in this event in the history of the NAIA. This same mark would have taken fourth place in the NCAA meet last year.

Whatever the case, Frank can be sure that his hop-step and jump record will stay in the MSC record books for a long long time.

Tennis team begins spring practice under new head coach Bill Garland

by Larry Larson

Newly appointed Tennis Coach Bill Garland has scheduled ten tennis meets for the upcoming season. Garland has replaced Dr. Clarence Glasrud as the tennis head mentor this year.

Returning lettermen and tennis prospects are now working out in MacLean gym while weather conditions do not permit them to get out on the courts.

A nucleus of six returning monogram winners will be back to compete on the team this year. Jim Nagel, senior from Breckenridge and runner-up in the Northern States Conference singles tennis championship last year bolster the team a great deal.

Other lettermen include: Kern Olson, sophomore from Thief River Falls, John Long, junior from Detroit Lakes, Russ Miller, sophomore from Moorhead, Mike Olson, sophomore from Fargo, and Al Shogren, senior from Alexandria. Shogren may miss this season, however, because of student teaching duties.

Two junior transfer prospects from Bemidji State College have also been working out and both have lettered in tennis at Beaverville. They are Ted Hatlen of Hitterdal, and Bob Worrall of Park Rapids.

The Dragons finished fourth in the conference last year behind league leading St. Cloud State, runner-up Mankato State and 3rd place finisher Michigan Tech. The Beavers from Bemidji State and the Warriors from Winona State shared the cellar spot.

Book Review

Webster's Third New International Dictionary

Webster's new unabridged dictionary has caused a good bit of controversy since it was first published last September. It is a dictionary which has been compiled with the changing English language in mind, and which contains over 100,000 new words and meanings never before included in an unabridged dictionary, although many familiar features of the oldre dictionary have been dropped to make room for these new entries. Those who are familiar features of the older dictionary find many changes which will be confusing until one becomes familiar with the new format.

This dictionary makes no effort to dictate which particular meaning, usage, or pronunciation of a given word is correct. This information has been compiled from many sources, and is given to the reader in as complete a presentation as possible. The seeker-after-knowledge is left to make his own choice as to which usage or meaning is the more appropriate to his need.

Also, many other items of information formerly available in the dictionary have been omitted, on the premise that these are available in other, more specialized, reference books. Thus, the dictionary no longer contains a biographical section or gazetteer; nor are place names, proper names, or fictional or mythological characters included. This could be a handicap to those whose only reference book is the dictionary, or who would have no immediate access to a more specialized reference work.

However, the new unabridged dictionary also has its good points. The language in which the definitions are presented is clear and simple. Each precise meaning has been given in a single phrase, direct and to the point, and quotations are included which indicate exactly how a word is used in a given situation.

The dictionary also includes many more illustrations, to aid in visual understanding; carefully defined articles on synonyms, to indicate to the nth degree the difference between two words with almost exactly the same meaning; the most complete and informative etymologies available; and an enormous coverage of information in the form of special tables.

The new Webster's unabridged is a new, strange, and unfamiliar dictionary, more complete in some ways, and less so in others. Only time can tell whether it will gain the acceptance of the familiar SECOND INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY, or whether the changes and innovations will prove to be a fatal handicap.

(This new dictionary is available for examination in the MSC library.)

Three faculty committees set

Three new faculty committees, covering legislation, 75th anniversary of MSC, and dedication of Hagen Hall, have been named by Pres. John J. Neumaier. All three are expected to begin functioning immediately.

The largest of the three is devoted to commemorating the 75th anniversary of MSC, which event will be celebrated this coming school year. Co-chairmen for this committee are Miss Jessie McKellar and Mr. Duane Scribner.

Others on this committee are Miss Alice Corneliussen, Mr. Bernard Gill, Dr. Clarence Glasrud, Mrs. Viringia Grantham, Mr. Gerald Ippolito, Mr. Ralph Lee, Dr. Byron Murray, Mr. Norman Nelson (resident director of the college), Dr. Frank Noice, Mrs. Selberg, Miss Lyl Solem, Miss Marie Sorknes, Mr. Neil Thompson, Dr. Otto Ursin, Mr. Everett Warren, Dr. Maude Wenck, Dean Wilbur Williams, and Mr. John Youngquist. This committees has representatives from each department of instruction included, resulting in the large number of members.

The legislative committee, chaired by Dr. Claydon Robbins, has as members Dr. Walter Brown, Mr. Earl Herring, Mr. Thomas Pahl, Dr. John Smurr, and Dr. Wilbur Williams.

The dedication for Hagen Hall, chaired by Mr. Earl Herring, includes Mr. Harold Addicott, Mr. Robert Englestad (from Foss and Co., architects), Dr. Clarence Hull, Dr. Genevieve King, Mr. Ted Larson (student representative), Mr. Norman Nelson (resident director), Dr. Frank Noice, Miss Marion Smith, Mr. Robert Solso, and Dr. Marlowe Wegner.

"Skip" Adams, junior from Fargo, tees off on number ten tee.

Johnnies win triangular; undermanned MSC last

by Bob McAlpine

Monday night the drastically undermanned Moorhead State track team entered its first meet of the season. Even though the Dragons were unable to field a strong team, the track meet was a big success.

Marshall Shoquist turned in a fine evening's performance as he captured the 440 yard run and took a second in the broad jump.

There were three record performances turned in. The old high jump mark was eased from 5'11" to 6' even. The shot put mark was improved by four feet to 45'5". A St. John's student tied Frank Torson's 20'10 1/2" field-house broad jump record.

The Johnnies from Collegeville won the triangular Bemidji State holding down the number two position followed by Moorhead State.

Head Baseball Coach Loel Frederickson hopes to get his 21 game baseball slate underway this Monday when his Dragon baseballers will travel to Collegeville to meet the St. John's Johnnies in a doubleheader.

However, snow and cold weather may hamper playing conditions and thus the tilt may be cancelled. Coach Frederickson will know for sure on the definite time of the game Monday morning before journeying to St. John's.

A squad of 39 members has been working out in the spacious Nemzek Fieldhouse in preparation for the opener next week. Eleven letterwinners are among these baseball enthusiasts.

The opening home game for the Dragon charges will be next Wednesday afternoon with a doubleheader scheduled against the Comets from Mayville State Teachers College. The first game of the pair will get under way at 1:00 p.m. either at Matson Field in Moorhead or Barnett Field in Fargo, depending on the condition of the diamond.

Coach Frederickson plans to start with two seniors, three juniors and four sophomores in Monday's opener.

Lowell Kutches, tri-captain and senior from Appleton will start in center field, Gary Gullickson, a tri-captain and junior from Fargo will start in left field, and Roger Gunnufson, a junior from Gary will round out the tri-captain outfield and he will be in right field.

The Dragon infield will consist of veteran lettermen also, with Bob Fernholz of Madison catching and Dick Menzel of Odessa holding down the first base position, Jim Oftedahl, a senior second baseman from Chicago, Illinois appears set, Dick Schubbe who led the team in hitting last year as a freshmen will get the nod at shortstop, and Dorwin Marquardt, a sophomore from Pelican Rapids, will be at third.

Gary Loberg, sophomore from Fargo will be Frederickson's mound assignment for that opener at St. John's. Loberg throws from the left side and threw some for the Dragon charges last year.

Five IM marks shattered; Marshall Shoquist set two

The Intramural Track Meet was run off smoothly. Jim Klepetka of Mahanomen, Don Pate of Bloomington, Indiana, and Marshall Shoquist of Minneapolis turned in fine performances in several events. Klepetka won the pole-vault, placed second in the low hurdles and was third in the high hurdles. Pate had two firsts and a second, while Marshall Shoquist won three firsts and a second.

Shoquist also set two intramural records. He broke the broad jump record (19'1") with a 19'5 leap, and slashed Schoeneck's 440 record from 67 to 59.3 seconds. Klepetka raised the pole-vault record from 9'6" to 10'6", Ron Hillman ran 2:21 to break Arend's 880 record of 2:37 and Bob Reger ran the mile in 5:40, seven seconds better than Klecks record of 5:47.

Dragon baseball will get under way Monday with the St. John's tilt at Collegeville. Tri-captains Gary Gullickson, Lowell Kutches, and Roger Gunnufson will start in the outfield positions.

Rafer Johnson, holder of world and Olympic records in the decathlon, will be an honored guest at the Bison-Jaycee Track Meet, May 5 at Dacotah Field.

There will be two high school track meets held in Nemzek Fieldhouse next week. On Monday, April 16th, Fargo Shanley, Moorhead and Oak Grove will be featured in the city meet. Tuesday night, April 17th, will feature Moorhead State High, Hawley, Glyndon and Dilworth. Both meets start at 6:00 p.m.

In Last Year's intramural track meet, two outstanding performances were turned in. Gary Nulph ran a very fast 6.4 for the 60, and Bob Quam, Barnesville grid star, jumped 5'7" in the high jump event. Both of these marks would place in, if not win, many intercollegiate meets.
